If it only rained when you wanted it to, or if the sun only shone when you wanted it to--you might begin to think that you are running things!
--A Reflection

Vol. 9, No. 34

THE FIRST ANNUAL . . . President's Concert, held at GSU last Wednesday, was termed "the cultural and social event of the season" by the Star Newspapers, in the May 25th editions. The review stated, "the audience was treated to an outstanding evening of chamber music." Shown above are the two guest artists--Dmitry Paperno (top) and Joseph Guastafeste--being presented awards of Humanistic Achievement by James Lund (left), president of the GSU Foundation, and GSU President Leo Goodman-Malamuth.

GSU's MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM . . . has been awarded accreditation for three and one-half years (to October, 1983) by the Committee on Allied Health Education and Accreditation (CAHEA). The accreditation was recommended by the Medical Technology Review Committee of the National Accrediting Agency for Clinical Laboratory Sciences (NAACLS) following its review of the program's progress report of the past year. The program received its initial accreditation in October, 1978.

GSU FACULTY, CHAIRPERSONS, DEANS, AND DIRECTORS . . . are invited to attend an Academic Convocation, Monday, June 2, at 10 a.m. in Engbretson Hall. President Goodman-Malamuth will discuss plans and hopes for the 1980-81 academic year at Governors State. Provost Curtis McCray will address the assembly on the topic of "Liberal Education at the Upper Division University: GSU in the 1980's."

A PUBLIC MEETING . . . on a proposed M.A. bilingual-bicultural education program in education administration and supervision at GSU is set for Monday, June 2, at 7 p.m. at Providence of God School, 1814 S. Union in Chicago.

VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED . . . to hostess at GSU's tenth annual Commencement Ceremonies, Saturday and Sunday, June 7 and 8, beginning at 2 p.m. Those interested should contact Charleyn Oliver, x2440.

CONDOLENCES . . . to the family of SUE GLISTA (UL) who died Tuesday following a long illness. The funeral is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday at Cordt-Ryan Funeral Home in Homewood.
